Judge McGrath Says They Will Come This Month

Probably Will Be Appointed Last Week of April — There Will Be Three Prosecutors is the News That Comes From Hartford To-day

DEMOCRATS HAVE THEIR OWN SCRAP

Judge John F. McGrath of city court stated today in response to a query that official court appointments would not be announced until possibly the last week of the present month. Public interest is centered in the possible choice of prosecuting attorneys, clerks, probation officers, and interpreters. Owing to the fact that a bill is pending in the general assembly which will determine whether Waterbury will be obliged to carry the burden of two or three prosecuting attorneys, it is impossible for Judge McGrath and the new chief criminal court judge Attorney Edward Mascio to make known their choice. ### VASKO FAMILY WILL BATTLE THE DOCTORS PRISONER HAS REFUSED HIS FIRST STORY

They Are Barricaded in Home to Prevent Taking Their Child For an Operation

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Hastings, N. Y., April 13.—(UP)—The John Vasko family today barred and bolted its doors and prepared tubs of boiling water to repel police and physicians seeking entrance to treat two-year-old Helen Vasko and her twin sister.

Both children are said to be substantially to admit the major points of the repudiated confession.

MacDonald, called to the bar at the opening of the second session of trial which may decide the future of Anglo-Soviet relations, dramatically withdrew his previous plea of guilty and denied a long, detailed confession which involved five countries and eleven Russians who had also pleaded guilty.

Prosecutor Andrew Vishinsky then fired question after question at the stammering, nervous witness who was deathly pale. At the end he had admitted a systematic collecting of state secrets and offering monetary rewards to informants.

Vishinsky was not so successful, however, with William H. Thornton, another of the accused Englishmen, who repudiated statements made in pre-trial examinations and resolutely held to his defense despite all the strategy of the prosecution.

He was still being questioned when the court adjourned at 3 p.m. His examination will continue when the court reconvenes for an evening session.

CALABRESE IS GIVEN YEAR IN COUNTY JAIL

Judge Booth Held Him Criminally Responsible For the Death of Mrs Jennie Leach

Found guilty of manslaughter charges, John Calabrese, 31, of this city was sentenced to a year in the county jail at New Haven by Judge John Richards Booth in superior court today. The accused was held criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Jennie Leach in a sand pit off the Plank road last December 19, when he backed his truck over her body.

Mrs Calabrese, wife of the accused became hysterical and had to be assisted from the court room after sentence was passed. She had remained a constant attendant throughout the court trial and remained passive when Judge Booth found her husband guilty, but broke down when sentence was passed.

To Separate Control of Beer and Wine From Liquor Was Declared to Be Hypocrisy and Insult to Public

REPEAL IS JEOPARDIZED BY CHEAP POLITICAL BEHAVIOR

Hartford, Conn., April 13.—(UP)—The endeavor of the legislature judiciary committee to separate control of beer and wine from liquor was declared by Governor Wilbur L. Cross to-day as "hypocrisy" and "an insult to the intelligence of the citizens of our state".

"It is intolerable," the governor said, "that this matter of repeal which has agitated the country for years, should be jeopardized by cheap political behavior."

"The flood of protests from all over the state has apparently forced the political-liquor alliance to drop the contemplated county commissioner plan of control for beer and ale and all alcoholic drinks."

"The alliance has now proposed a separate bill for beer and ale, leaving the great question of general control, if the 18th amendment is repealed, to some future action, if any. It is needless for me to say that if no law is passed at this session dealing with hard liquor so that the people can see what is in view if they vote for repeal, then the vote for repeal, which is a fundamental issue, will be very seriously affected."

The governor then turned his attack on the proposal now before the general assembly to substitute the proposed central control plan for beer control for local and county systems.

"This is far from the truth than the assertion of the proponents of the new bill that it eliminates politics," he said.

The new bill, the executive said, offered two alternatives: No control, which over time would result in a general control of beer and ale; and such control as any town, city or borough may deem necessary.

"The proposal of no control," he continued, "is, I am certain, intolerable to a great majority of citizens. Connecticut would be swimming in beer in 24 hours."

He pictured an condition worse than that of pre-prohibition days and asserted that without proper control, bootleggers and children would be selling beer unrestricted. With no regulation provided for in the bill, the governor said, (Continued on Page 4)

VON PAPEN FAILED TO GET SUPPORT OF HOLY PONTIFF

Wanted Pope Pius to Collaborate With the Hitler Regime to Bolster Its Political Strength — the Pope Prudently Kept Hands Off

By THOMAS B. MORGAN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Toronto, April 13.—(UP)—Vice-chancellorizing Von Papen has been unable to persuade the Pope to collaborate with the Hitler regime to bolster its political strength in Germany, it was disclosed today.

The visit nevertheless was "eminently satisfactory" to both sides. It was said at the German embassy in New York that the Pope had been received with the Hitler type of cordiality.

Both sides manifested optimism over the results of Von Papen's conversations with the Pope and Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli secretary of state. Peace, internal and external, overshadowed the conversations.

Two objects which Von Papen had hoped to achieve did not materialize, however. The first was reorganization of the German Catholic hierarchy under the Hitler regime. Von Papen accepted the papal viewpoint that the parties should be left alone and events be permitted to take care of the situation.

OFFERS SHAW FOR WAR DEBT

London, April 13.—(UP)—The Morning Post generously offered today to "cede George Bernard Shaw" to the United States, "final and absolute payment of the war debt."

Shaw's appearance in the New York Metropolitan Opera house did not sit well with the Post's editorial writer.

"That prominently visible export of Great Britain, George Bernard Shaw, has been working wonders in New York and writing well at the Metropolitan Opera house, revitalizing that building as a home of the opera Bouffé."
